Titusville Morning Herald.

This is the only paper between Pittsburgh and Erie that receives the Associated Press Telegrams and Cable Dispatches.

Titusville, Monday, October 7, 1867.

THE LEADING NEWSPAPER ON EVERY PAGE.

Varieties.

A good newspaper compositor can find employment at the office.

A Mrs. Brooks was struck by lightning, at Warren, on the 2d, while closing a window, and instantly killed.

The telegraph reports the destruction of the village of St. John's. It is located on the river Richelieu, twenty-four miles from Montreal, Canada East.

The Hon. D. A. Hinney has so far recovered his health that he has determined to make a trip to Europe, with the hope that the voyage may be beneficial.

The Grand Lodge of Good Templars of Ohio met at Dayton last week. Of three hundred and sixty lodges in the State, two hundred and fifty were represented.

Tuesday will decide whether the Keystone State and her gallant sister, Ohio, have been de-bouched by Johnsonism, or are true to the faith and flag of the Union party.

The Legislature of Tennessee meets to day. The election of Governor Brownlow to the United States Senate is generally conceded. A sweet plumb for Andrew Johnson!

The Bostonians are making great preparations for the reception of General Sherman to-day. There is to be a large military escort. The banks are to be closed during the day.

Remember that the Republican State Committee will award their flag to the county giving the largest majority to Henry W. Williams, as compared with the vote for George Jay last.

Every vote cast for H. S. McAllister to-morrow is a stab at the new county project. The Republican party is virtually pledged through its candidates to give us the bill if we give them an earnest support.

A number of refineries on Oil Creek have lately been purchased by Eastern parties. These have filed their license bonds in the Revenue office at Oil City, and announce their intention of running their works to their full capacity.

—Vallandigham said, at Columbus, Ohio, that he was going back to Washington, with Pendleton, Voorhees, and all the rest of that crowd, "to reconstruct this Republic." The rest of that crowd of course includes Jeff. Davis and Wilkes Booth.

—We particularly request the election boards in the neighboring townships of both Crawford and Venango counties, to forward us duplicates of the returns, as soon as ascertained. We shall thus be enabled to give the approximate results of the election on Wednesday morning.

—A critical correspondent of a British journal has discovered that a famous race horse named "Achievement" has literally won his weight in gold. This, he says, is represented by twenty-eight thousand sovereigns, which, in round numbers, weigh four hundred pounds avoirdupois.

—The Ohio Republican says that the great Pennsylvania Central Railroad, which was heavily interested in the Kansas Pacific Railroad, has withdrawn all its interest from it, and transferred it to the Missouri and Mississippi Railroad, through which to make connection with the Plate River route.

—In 1865 Lincoln's majority in Pennsylvania was 29,075. Last year the Republicans' majority was upwards of 12,000, a falling off of less than 3,000 in an election when the Republican party entered the campaign with far less spirit and determination than that which animates its immediate to-day.

—The New York State Fair at Buffalo last week was a great success. Forty thousand people were within the enclosure on a single day. The hotels were overcrowded, pegs rented for a dollar each to guests who were compelled to "hang out" and lamp posts were at high premium for those who had an all night "leaving" in that direction.

—A German named George Gunther committed suicide at the Petroleum House in Erie on Friday night by cutting his throat with a razor. According to his letters, the deceased, (who appeared to be about fifty or fifty-five years of age), was on his way from Springfield, Illinois, to Mendham, Morris county, New Jersey, where he had daughters residing.

—Remember that Lowry, Eddy and Beatty are unequivocally pledged to work and vote in favor of a new county. It will be time enough to charge them with treachery when they have violated these pledges. Don't throw away your votes by voting against them, and then go whining to Harrisburg to ask their forgiveness. That would be humiliating indeed.

—The home of Mr. Owen and the furnishing shop of Mr. Manly, at Corry, were consumed on Thursday last. The origin of the fire is not known, as it was first discovered near the roof of the buildings. The loss is about $4,000. No insurance. But for the promptitude of the citizens, who turned out with buckets, blankets, etc., the conflagration would have been a very large one.

—The Philadelphia Press says of Governor Geary that "the wisdom of his selection as the Chief Magistrate of this great State is nobly confirmed alike by the wisdom and purity of his administration and the electric influence he is exerting at this critical period in behalf of our holy cause. Every day furnishes new reasons for holy Pennsylvania to rejoice that Governor Geary is their Governor."

A NEW PRACTICAL MINT FOR VOTERS.

All the labor of the campaign culminates in the work of to-morrow. The argument is ended, and the citizen is now called upon to cast his ballot, so as to give his convictions practical effect in the action of the Government. Be at the polls by 9 o'clock to-morrow morning and help elect good men for Judges and Inspectors where places are vacant, and put in competent and honest clerks.

Vote Early.

Every year this advice is given and is always important. A vote in early is a vote safe, and no person's time is occupied in looking after it. If the great bulk of the vote is early, it is guaranteed that there will be a full vote and all that we need to assure victory is a full vote. The elector who puts off voting until late in the afternoon runs the risk of getting to vote or of being crowded out and losing his vote at a late hour. It is culpable for any able-bodied elector to compel the committee to send him, when they ought to be engaged in bringing to the polls the sick and lame, and such workmen as can only leave their employment for short time. Furthermore, the consciousness that the larger part of the vote is in advance, makes everybody feel like working and exciting that enthusiasm which is the great adjunct of victory.

Examine Your Tickets.

When you come to the polls to procure your ticket of somebody, you know! Do not think of young any ticket labeled Republican that anybody may give you in your hand, for there are always bogus tickets at the polls. Read your ticket through carefully, see that every Republican candidate is upon it, and that he is assigned to the proper office; see that the names of candidates are correctly spelled and that there are no Democratic slips pasted over them, no names of Democratic candidates printed in and no blanks left, by which a good Republican will be deceived.

Bring up Delinquents Early.

The tally hall ought to be at the polls in the hands of a competent committee man, and those lists will contain the name of every voter in the ward. When a man votes, check off his name, and send early for all those from whom you inquire, and be at great distance, will have to be sent for any how. Immediately after dinner there should be a systematic effort to get in the vote of every man not checked on the tally lists, at the earliest possible moment.

The Right of Challenge.

Any voter can be challenged, and there ought to be no legislation challenging men when it is probable they have no right to vote. If any illegal voter swears in before notwithstanding challenge, have him arrested on the spot.

Stay at the Polls and Help Work.

The success of the ticket is just as much the interest of one Republican as another. It is just as much the duty of one Republican to work for that success as another. When a full vote is gained a victory, no Republican permits another to feel good for him. Then do not simply cast your vote and go home. There will always be something about the polls you can do. You may be able to influence a doubtful voter to the right side, you can help distribute tickets; you can help bring up delinquents; and even if you feel that you cannot engage in this work, your presence will give confidence and spirits to the men who do the work. We all know the effect of a thin, listless crowd about the polls.

Beware of Hoaxbacks.

Pay no attention to such hour stories about candidates. All sorts of living rumors and stale incidents are got up on election day at ten o'clock in hour to circulate through the public prints. No sensible man ought to be influenced by them. They are only designed to unnerve the elector out of his vote. Again, we say, beware of all sorts of declaimers about our candidates made on election day.

Don't Trade Votes.

There is always a temptation to trade votes, and it is generally the most important officials that suffer in the trade. Republicans have a good ticket this year, and they ought to vote it without any sort of check.

New County.

Lastly, remember that the hope of securing a new county is now dependent upon the success of Mr. Lowry as Senator, and Messrs. Beatty and Eddy as Representatives. Their election is certain beyond a doubt. If Titusville votes against them, and they are ploughed in favor of a new county project, we shall certainly deserve it and it will in all probability ensure it. Every intelligent man who is prejudiced has not bluffed his reason, ought to know that every vote for McAllister will be a vote against a new county.

The Momentous Issues.

The New York Tribune has a sensible article on the pending elections, and one in which the great issues at stake are adequately stated. We quote its words, and comment them to the attention of every Republican who may be intending on personal grounds to support a Democratic candidate.

Upon the fate of the Republican party in the approaching elections in New York and Pennsylvania hangs consequences so vast and important that the mind does not easily grasp all dangers of our position. A Democratic victory in these States would rouse the dormant energies of the whole rebel domain in the South, and the entire negro killing-mill at the North.

We particularly request the election boards in the neighboring townships of both Crawford and Venango counties, to forward us duplicates of the returns, as soon as ascertained. We shall thus be enabled to give the approximate results of the election on Wednesday morning.

At an early hour on Saturday morning last, John Magruder, one of the brakemen on an extra freight train on the Warren & Franklin Railroad, was run over and killed near the depot at Oil City. It seems that while attempting to set on the brakes, he fell to the track and several cars passed over him.

THE NEW COUNTY MEETING.—Mr. McAllister addressed "over the top."

The friends of Mr. McAllister, Democratic candidate for Representative, issued a call on Saturday for a "new county" meeting in the evening at Corinthian Hall. The object of the meeting was very generally understood to be to obtain an endorsement of Mr. McAllister as the candidate of our citizens, irrespective party, upon the ground that he is an old resident of Titusville, and therefore the representative, par excellence, of the new county project.

A sufficient number of Republicans were induced to assist in the programme to give it a non-partisan character, but fully three fourths of the audience were members of the Democratic party. The Republicans in attendance, with but few exceptions, were evidently there from motives of curiosity, or to witness the results of the experiment to divide the Republican party at a time when the party itself virtually pledged
